Open Culture Foundation (OCF)

Open Culture Foundation: Connecting Tech Communities for Open Innovation and Digital Rights in Taiwan. As a non-profit since 2014, we support over 30 open tech communities, advocate for digital human rights, and foster a transparent and inclusive digital civil society. Join us in promoting open co-creation and shaping the future of technology in Taiwan.
Our Vision

OCF is an advocate for open technology, we hope to promote open co-creation and protect digital human rights, and thus support a more transparent and inclusive digital civil society.

Our Mission

Using open technology and collaboration across different fields to foster digital civil society and help respond to the multiple threats of the digital era.

What is Open Technology?

Open Technology comprises Open Source, Open Data and Open Government. The goal of open technology is to ensure that the construction of our digital society, the collection of data and the functioning of government is all open, transparent and participatory. By ensuring these principals, open technology aims to promote the implementation of digital human rights and internet freedom, thus allowing for the realization of a digital civic society.
